

Abstract of Disclosure

[0054] A shadow box scrapbook page adapted to hold and secure three-dimensional objects for storage and display. This invention provides a binder portion having openings to receive standard rings or posts common to binders, and a frame device, having a front, back and side, top and bottom sections, defining a cavity. The front is generally transparent for the viewing of the stored objects.